MILK AND PIE.

Special telegrams to most of the papers here announced that Postmaster-General Vilas is daily in the habit of going incognito to an up-street restaurant in Washington and making a luncheon out of a piece of apple pie and a goblet of milk. As several days have passed since the publication of the aforesaid telegrams and the statement has not been modified or denied, there are perhaps reasons for believing in its truthfulness. Looked at from any point of view, the dispatch is a most singular one to emanate from the seat of the government. Some reason must exist which does not appear on the surface, for giving to the American people the dietary in detail of the able and able Postmaster-general's pie and milk!

The report could hardly have been sent out to affect the market for grain or stocks. It would be practically impossible, notwithstanding the multitudes who might imitate the gastronomic example of the learned and handsome postmaster general, to exhaust the supply of apple pie, so long as the modern processes of preservation allow the raw material to be kept for a great length of time; while any person who laid the least claim to statesmanship, would appreciate the absurdity of trying to bull the market in milk with such a stream as the Potomac not far away. In making such attempts, misfortune and disaster would inevitably be in card.

It has been suggested that the zealous and oratorical postmaster general has sold himself to the belief of Boston Puritanism. What is there about pie and milk that gives force to democratic law? Nothing; hence the effort to introduce these appurtenances of nature yearnings into the councils of the cabinet at Washington, was met by scorn and rebuffs; and in his chagrin and humiliation the earnest and talented postmaster general seeks, by a back street, the rear entrance to an obscure restaurant where he can hold sweet and solitary communion with his pie and milk. This is one theory.

Again the notion is advanced that the worthy and estate postmaster general realizes that if it were generally known among his party friends that he was addicted to the unbecoming pie and the unbecoming milk he would be ejected from the Democratic temple. Are there any elements in these articles that make them obscured by the average democratic heart or endured by the average democratic stomach? Whatever articles may be entertained by and endorsed to those organs by theory, practice, example or education, no person of permanent or even partial lucidity of intellect would ever expect to find pie and milk among them. Hence, it is argued that for this reason the polished and distinguished postmaster-general, fearing the charge of eccentricity if not treason, silently steals away to the seclusion of a distant inn or corner where he will be unknown, unnoticed and unnoted; and where he can huddle without interruption that expressive ditty:

While I can read my title clear,
To office under Grover,
With apple pie and milk to cheer,
I'll live right on in flavor.

This theory has practical merit. Another reason for the exceptional and undemocratic conduct of the classical and eminent postmaster-general has been suggested. There have been intimations from remote points that this gentleman has political aspirations. Assuming for the sake of argument the correctness of this suspicion, and confessing that his character is as high and his ability as great as he himself supposes, what would be more natural than for him to believe that he could attract considerable republican support; and what means would he adopt to secure it, more plausible and efficient than for him to use the republican bill of fare? There is no bond of sympathy more unique and powerful than that which arises from a community of palatable preferences; and there is no act which more convincingly argues the possession of a refined and aesthetic culture than the persistent and protracted indulgence in pie and milk. The versatile and intelligent postmaster general has a realizing consciousness of this indisputable fact and knowing that he must have some counterpoise of this kind to achieve the object of his towering ambition he casts a look furtively with republican bait to catch republican gudgeons. This theory is profound if not conclusive.

Every citizen of Rock county has more than a passing interest in the name and fame of the affable and intellectual postmaster general. To a degree there is a sense of personal responsibility for his success, for he has matured and married in the Badger state—he lives in an adjoining county—his home is in a sister city—he has lived in the same congressional district, and much of his great wealth has escaped taxation as in many other cases. For these reasons there is a general belief in the complete impossibility of his character. The people of Rock county have faith in civil service reform and they viewed with approval the rules and innovation which the president of the United States with the co-operation of the members of the cabinet, made with the object of improving the public service. Hence, the charges that the consistent and exemplary postmaster general let his official seat, abandoned his pie and milk, and by means of a limited train, was quickly transplanted to Madison, where, for two days and nights he was involved in political schemes and intrigues which would make each individual heir of the true civil service improver stand on end like quills upon the fretful porcupine,—these charges, we say, are rejected by the people of Rock county with a contempt and decision worthy of a better cause. Allowing for the moment that his conduct was such as has been described, it is to be attributed entirely to the substitution of the more healthy democratic compounds for those gentle and innocent republican simples—pie and milk.

SOME MORE CIVIL SERVICE.

The administration has finally concluded to remove Colonel Easo, postmaster at Waubeeka, on the ground of offensive partisanship, he having all his life voted the republican ticket. There is a bit of history connected with the Waubeeka post office that is worth publishing, for the reason, among other things, that it shows how deadly in earnest this administration is in holding fast to civil service reform. According to rule, the office is under General Bragg's dominion, Waubeeka being in his district. Ever since Mr. Cleveland began his reform career at Washington charges have been made against Colonel Easo for offensive partisanship. But, virtually, the office was put up to the highest bidder by General Bragg. There were several candidates and some bidders. Month after month passed and no one was appointed. There were dispoints among the candidates and the post office was in a state of confusion. In the meantime the post office was retained for better. Bragg says he is satisfied that the office was sold to a democrat, and perhaps three, before the last congressional convention in his district. This was done by the democrats who were opposing his re-nomination. They used the office as a means to secure votes for one or the other of the candidates for congressional nomination.

Now that the election is over and Bragg and Delaney are helpless in defeat, the office has been disposed of. P. H. Carey gets the sugar plum and for this reason given by General Bragg, that he is a leader of the Irish vote, the editor of a democratic newspaper, and a hard-working democrat, and withal a good lawyer and an upright man.

General Bragg now shakes hands with himself, to think that he is even with his democratic enemies in Waubeeka. Those who opposed his nomination have been defeated for the post office, and the little general now smiles over the fact that even in political defeat he has occasion to rejoice.

LABOR NEWS.

From Thirty States and Abroad.—Active Trade and Advancing Prices.—Eighty business and Labor Progress.—The World is a Coasting.

There were 1500 strikes in New York last year. The 18,000 men who were employed in the city of New York and Brooklyn gained a strike at a cost of $100,000 which has added $2,000,000 to their annual payroll and which has lessened the hours of labor twenty three hours per week, besides creating additional employment for three thousand men. Typographical Union, No. 6 has 3500 members; Pressmen's Union, No. 9 has 900; the Franklin Association has 400; the stereotypers 350; the book binders 275; the photo-engravers 135. A union of the formation of the city in New York is probable. The Solidarity Watch Case Co. with 51 members is a successful co-operative concern. The Panthe club of Brooklyn printers contemplates erecting a fine club house somewhere near the center of the city. Up to November first 3705 new buildings were erected in New York at a cost of $53,000,000, an increase of $13,000,000 over the same time last year. The police estimate that there are 20,000 professional criminals in that city.

A co-operative underwear establishment is to be started in Richmond. The Knights of Labor of St. Louis are boycotting the recovery establishments because of the formation of a business ring. An effort is to be made to establish a labor bureau in Georgia. The Girls' Local Assembly 7707 are about establishing a co-operative clothing manufacturing company. District Assembly No. 24 of Chicago composed of 125 local assemblies with an aggregate membership of 22,000 have passed a set of resolutions to use all honorable means to prevent the execution of the sentence against the anarchists. Southern planters are combining in an effort to crush out the attempt of the Knights of Labor to organize field hands. The Trenton Knights of Labor have declared war against the Star Rubber Co. The Minneapolis Knights will soon have a new hall which will be a credit to the order. The Chicago Co-operative Packing and Provision Co. will shortly start into business with a capital of $100,000. The history of all political labor movements has been an enthusiasm at the start and disgust at the close. It requires very little cunning manipulation on the part of ward and division workers at the last minute to turn the keen edge of the labor political axe and make it a double-edged sword. Politicians know this and count on it. The G. O. move is a surprise, and it has done more to stir up the antagonism of the old line politicians than any other event. It is a political move, and it is a political move in favor of it in the west and circular letters are being largely distributed in those sections to encourage the disposition to engage in politics. ## SUNDAY IN IRELAND.

THE POLICE ON THE ALERT TO SUPPRESS LEAGUE MEETINGS.

A Day of Riot in Cork—Vigorous Measures of Repression Determined on—O'Connor and Turner To Be Arrested—Hossa at the Head of a New Fenian Organization—Dillon Criticized.

DUBLIN, Dec. 6.—It is believed in Dublin, on excellent grounds, that Lord Ashbourne and Bessie brought back with them from London, Saturday, the resolution to use the sternest repressive measures, and an assurance of the cabinet's support of any plan whereby they might approve for the furtherance of a coercion policy. The first measure will doubtless be the arbitrary suppression of public meetings, on the ground of their being intended as means of intimidation; and more especially the suppression of United Ireland. The latter is the worst of all threats in the government side. It keeps reminding the people of their past misdeeds, and it is an easy one to put out, as the opinions and sentiments it expresses are bound to find their way into the air somehow.

The executive department of the viceregal government at Dublin Castle, has addressed a private circular to the police authorities throughout Ireland, forbidding the police to interfere with the houses and farms from which tenants are to be evicted, or to disturb the tranquility of the country. The circular instructs the police to confine their action in connection with evictions, solely to protecting landlords in case they are assaulted while performing their duties. Other measures must take care of themselves.

BROKEN BY THEIR EMPLOYEES.

A Boston Foot and Shoe Firm Succumbs to the Wage Question.

BOSTON, Dec. 6.—The well-known boot and shoe house of A. P. Martin & Co., of the city, has been broken up. The firm, which was formerly the head, Saturday afternoon assigned to Mr. Pickard, of N. V. River & Co.

Announcement of the failure created great excitement in the city. It was completely unexpected, the firm standing at the head of the trade in Boston. Mr. Martin feels his position keenly and is nearly prostrated. He says that the primary cause of the failure was the demand of the employees in the factories at Hudson, for more wages than the firm could afford to pay. He said the firm made shows all in a winter at a loss because the men would not agree to a reduction of wages. Then as soon as they knew the firm had an order for 5,000 cases they demanded an increase, which had to be granted, and the order was filled at a loss. This had been the case for the past three years.

COMFORT FOR "THE BOYS."

A Texas Congressman on the President's Idea of Civil Service Reform.

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 6.—Hon. J. H. Jones, of Texas, who was beaten for re-election in the city, Saturday. He says the patronage question looms for re-election, and was the cause of Congressmen Morrison's defeat. He was asked whether this question would affect President Cleveland's chances in 1892 and said:

I do not know. He has held to his conviction of the civil service law, and has not the construction of all of it would put upon it. He found that inferior law upon the same basis, and he had pledged himself to do so. He is a Democrat, I think—a thorough Democrat—and believes that Democrats ought to occupy the office. But this is a big country, and it would not do to disarrange the business of the government by wholesale removal. He has been conservative in that, perhaps too conservative, but he has two years more to make a record for himself, and these years may change entirely the complexion of his chances. The fighting Democrats should read his letter to Stone, the Republican, suspended for disobeying the order with reference to the participation in politics of federal officeholders. It contains some comfort for them, I think. The day is sent to show themselves through the voice.

A St. Louis Opera House.

CHICAGO, Dec. 6.—A special dated Dec. 5 to The Herald, from St. Louis, says: "The American Opera company will cease to exist after tomorrow, and will be reorganized as The National Opera company."

Mr. Theodore Thomas, president of the former, becoming vice president of the latter. This information was obtained by our correspondents from a reliable and trustworthy source. All the members of the opera company left for Chicago to-day.

Another special says the company closed a successful season in that city, Saturday night, the receipts for the week amounting to $27,000, against $23,280 last season. "Gus" was the favorite, taking in $3,950, and "Alida" next, netting $3,500.

CHICAGO, Dec. 6.—The American Opera company arrived here Sunday night, the 5th, and were met by a large number of the company two trains and twenty cars. Everybody connected with the company who could be seen that would know anything about it pronounced The Herald's "glean and glean" yarn.

Think They Have a Train Robbery.

CHICAGO, Dec. 6.—Henry Schwartz, a local Italian, known who was arrested Saturday on a charge of bigamy, is in the county jail in default of $1,000 bail. It is believed that he is simply being held on that while the detectives are searching for the money sufficient to convict him of the same serious crime of complicity in the robbery and murder of Express Messenger Nichols in last March. The evidence against him is that he has been connected with the possession of a satchel in which was found a piece of a clock which was one of the goods stolen; also that he has spent a good deal of money since the robbery. He has been shadowed by detectives for a long time. It is strongly denied the charge and says he can explain why he got every cent of the money.

SUNDAY IN IRELAND.

THE POLICE ON THE ALERT TO SUPPRESS LEAGUE MEETINGS.

A Day of Riot in Cork—Vigorous Measures of Repression Determined on—O'Connor and Turner To Be Arrested—Hossa at the Head of a New Fenian Organization—Dillon Criticized.

DUBLIN, Dec. 6.—It is believed in Dublin, on excellent grounds, that Lord Ashbourne and Bessie brought back with them from London, Saturday, the resolution to use the sternest repressive measures, and an assurance of the cabinet's support of any plan whereby they might approve for the furtherance of a coercion policy. The first measure will doubtless be the arbitrary suppression of public meetings, on the ground of their being intended as means of intimidation; and more especially the suppression of United Ireland. The latter is the worst of all threats in the government side. It keeps reminding the people of their past misdeeds, and it is an easy one to put out, as the opinions and sentiments it expresses are bound to find their way into the air somehow.

The executive department of the viceregal government at Dublin Castle, has addressed a private circular to the police authorities throughout Ireland, forbidding the police to interfere with the houses and farms from which tenants are to be evicted, or to disturb the tranquility of the country. The circular instructs the police to confine their action in connection with evictions, solely to protecting landlords in case they are assaulted while performing their duties. Other measures must take care of themselves.

The police were early on hand Sunday to frustrate any attempt that might be made to hold the prohibited National league meeting on a large National league meeting at Castleblin, county Tipperary. A squad of soldiers and a government reporter were present, the latter taking notes of the speeches and resolutions without interruption. There was also present a force of police whose offensive manner outraged the audience into a violent expression of their feelings. Showers of stones were hurled at the police and the latter, aided by the soldiers, charged upon the crowd. While the mob was at its height, the parish priest came forward upon the platform and by exhorting the crowd to refrain from disorder, pointing out the danger of violent conduct at the time, succeeded in pacifying the irate laity. Order being restored, the police fell back and offered no further interference. Resolutions were passed approving the plan of campaign.

Mr. John Dillon, M. P., addressed an immense National league meeting at Castleblin Sunday. He warned those who are now supporting the landlords that the time was near at hand when the police would be in the pay of Mr. Parnell, as premier of Ireland.

"It would be well for them," he said, "that they should not forget this, for in the time of our power we will remember them, and I can tell the officers of the law who are now taking notes of the proceedings that they must expect no protection from the Irish government."

Criticizing John Dillon.

LONDON, Dec. 6.—The Daily News says that Mr. John Dillon's language at Castleblin was calculated to provoke a reaction in favor of the landlords. The News is willing to make allowance for Mr. Dillon's patriotism, but says his words of comfort for his countrymen greatly distress his friends.

O'Connor and Turner To Be Arrested.

CORK, Dec. 6.—Summons were issued Saturday for the arrest of Messrs. O'Connor and Turner, Nationalist members of parliament.

STONING THE POLICE AT CORK.

The Mayor Orders the Police Not to Charge, but They Do So Anyway.

CORK, Dec. 6.—Owing to the government's proclamation of the National league meeting at Castleblin, a large crowd of persons in the open street Sunday. The crowd became excited and stoned the police, who were present in small force. The latter drew their swords, charged the crowd, and then ran back to their barracks for assistance. A strong force of police soon arrived upon the scene and prepared to charge. The mayor interfered and declared to the commander of the police that he, being responsible for the peace of the city, would not allow the police to charge upon the people. Inspector of Police O'Connell placed his men in line, but did not order a charge. The crowd, encouraged by the attitude of the mayor, renewed their volley of stones into the ranks of the police, striking several of them and badly injuring two. This happened in the mayor's presence, but he still refused to allow the police to charge.

Police Inspector Shannon at this juncture arrived with an additional force of men, and upon learning how matters stood, told the mayor that he would not stand by and see the police made the targets of a stone-throwing mob. The mayor persisted in his refusal to allow the police to charge, whereupon Inspector Shannon told the mayor he would not obey his orders. The inspector then ordered the police to charge, and the crowd dispersed. The result of Inspector Shannon's order to the mayor, the latter retired from the scene, and Capt. Plunkett, divisional magistrate assumed command.

The crowd after being dispersed by the police assembled and made a furious onslaught upon the police. The police, now heavily reinforced, charged again and again upon the mob, which slowly fell back, but continued to throw stones at the police. Many of the police were severely injured and the number of wounded by bayonet thrusts and other ways was very large. Many of the wounded on both sides were able to walk to their homes, or were taken there by friends. But twenty-three of the injured were conveyed to the hospitals for treatment. At midnight the city was quiet, but the police were patrolling the streets.

O'Donovan Rossa Redivivus.

At the Head of a New Society to Worry the Sixes.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 6.—The Record publishes a sensational story of the actions and plans of a new Fenian society. The article says that the society was formed by dissatisfied members of the older organizations who met here Thanksgiving Day, and chose O'Donovan Rossa their chief. They intend to intrigue toward creating discontent in Canada against the mother country that will eventually break out into open rebellion, and after thus crippling the hated enemy to transfer the base of operations to Australia. A secret committee of five to execute Rossa's plans was appointed. Contributions from the faithful to assist in the consummation of these plans will be solicited.

RULED BY PREJUDICE.

Few persons realize how thoroughly they are controlled by prejudice even to their own disadvantages. For many years the treatment of rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica and headache has been by some outward application, and, therefore, without stopping to think that the origin of these troubles must, from necessity, be in the system, have been accustomed to rub, rub, and find no relief. Achiophorus is taken internally, and as a proof that this is the correct principle, it cures surely and quickly. The statement of those who have been cured ought to convince the incredulous.

Lowell, Mich.

We are satisfied that Achiophorus is giving the best satisfaction of any rheumatic remedy we are selling.

Hest & Myron.

George S. Baldwin, dealer in coal and wood, Kenosha, Wis., says: "I was afflicted with rheumatism for several years, and at times suffered quite severely. I used two bottles of Achiophorus and soon I was 'relieved.'"

Lambert Smith, Jr., Shelbyport, Wis., says: "I have had rheumatism for at least fifteen years. I did not suffer with it steadily, but was subject to attacks most any time, and always to be laid up with it during the fall and spring of each year. The disease was not confined to any one part of my body; it would appear first in one place then in another, but more frequently in my feet and ankles, which would swell out of all proportion. It is just about as if you were in a house of horrors. Although I have passed through the fall and spring I have not had any rheumatism whatever since I used that medicine."

Every drugstore should keep Achiophorus and Achiophorus Pills, but where they cannot be bought at the drugstore the Achiophorus Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Achiophorus and six for Pills.

For live and killing results—rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica, headache, indigestion, weakness, nervous debility, diseases of women, constipation, hemorrhoids, impure blood, etc., Achiophorus Pills are unequalled.
